

Between August and spring 2022 Metro will be brought to life in new ways through dance, song, music and visual arts projects involving people right across the region and funded by Arts Council England. The Metro Takeover programme will see major regional arts organisations including Sunderland Culture, Dance City and Cultural Spring run community projects and commissions to be showcased at stations across the busy urban transit system. Full details of the Metro Takeover will be announced by Nexus next month.

The first set of dance performances specially co-commissioned by Nexus and Dance City will be choreographed by Robby Graham of Southpaw Dance Company. The new work, REACH, will be performed by fourteen emerging dance artists that are part of the postgraduate company The Collective, based at Dance City.

REACH will be performed at three Metro stations at 2pm, 4pm and 6pm each day:

- Wednesday 4 August, Park Lane in Sunderland
- Thursday 5 August, Tynemouth Metro station in North Tyneside
- Friday 6 August, TBC

Upcoming Pro Classes

Pro Class continues in a hybrid format, with both Zoom and in-person socially distanced classes available.

During August all pro classes will be delivered by Creative Summer residency companies and artists and the schedule will be different. Please refer to the Pro Class Calendar for the most up to date details.

The decision has been made that to ensure professional artists continue to be safe whilst engaging in Pro Class at Dance City, masks are to be worn during class and social distancing is to continue throughout July and August.
